

Tidy Towns

TASMANIA

Creating sustainable communities

THIS year saw many highlights for Keep Australia Beautiful, Tasmania:

- The 29th annual Tidy Towns Program
- The inaugural separate Sustainable Cities Program
- The 5th annual Clean Beaches Program
- Ross winning the national Heritage & Cultural Award at Australian Tidy Towns in April '08
- Devonport winning the National Heritage & Culture Award at Australian Sustainable Cities in October '08
- Freers Beach, Port Sorell taking out the National Community Partnership Award at Australian Clean Beaches in September '08.
- Further recognition with a Highly Commended Award in the Protection of the Environment and Young Legends categories together with local Helen Sankey being Highly Commended in the prestigious Dame Phyllis Frost Award topped off a superb effort by this "can do" North West beach community.

Oatlands is Tasmania's 2009 Tidy Town overall winner and will represent the State at the National Awards scheduled for May 2009 in Canberra.

Longstanding supporter and entrant Launceston nudged out strong entries from the other cities to take out the State Sustainable Cities Award and will be our representative in the Australian Awards scheduled for October in Melbourne.

Harold Coleman accepts the John Donaghy Memorial Award from Carol, Lisa and John Donaghy Jr.

Bluff Beach, Devonport's beautiful city beach with loads of amenities for all the community pipped some excellent entries from around our large coastline to win the Cleanest Beach Award. Although in a different program, Devonport will again represent Tasmania in the National Clean Beaches Awards scheduled for March in Townsville.

"With those results and with participation from 21 of 29 municipalities this year Tasmania is certainly playing its part in Australia in achieving KAB's aims and ideals," said Ken Stewart, Chairman, KAB Tasmania, and Vice Chairman, KAB National.

Mr. Stewart added: "Heartfelt thanks to our sponsors, without whose support these significant community contributions would not be recognised. Well done to all our participants".

From the Premier

SINCE becoming Premier, I have spoken often about the need to build a clever, kind and connected Tasmania. The Keep Australia Beautiful Awards are a great example of the sort of connections I'm talking about.

We need to be clever in how we build sustainable communities in Tasmania – places which support new ideas and a culture of engagement with the people around us.

That is what the Keep Australia Beautiful Awards are really about – about sharing with our neighbours a sense of pride in our communities.

Through the Clean Beaches Award, we celebrate the lifestyle benefits that we enjoy through being an island State surrounded by beautiful beaches.

Through the Sustainable Cities Awards, we are building awareness of our shared responsibility to make sure our cities remain pleasant places in which to live and work.

And through the Tidy Towns Awards, we share the pleasure of maintaining public open spaces of which we can all be proud.

Congratulations to all the Tasmanian winners and nominees in another excellent year for the Keep Australia Beautiful campaign in our State.

LAUNCESTON our best city

THIS being his third visit to Launceston, judge Barrie Muir said "I have become more and more impressed not only by the way the Launceston City Council is responding to community needs and wishes but also by the way it is not afraid to take a leadership role, so much so in fact, that I believe that it is meeting the challenges of environmental sensitivity as well as any city in the country".

Barrie Muir has represented Tasmania on a National judging panel for KAB Australian Sustainable Cities Awards and has seen the efforts of the nation's top cities. "Launceston has shown itself to be very strong not only in the areas of protection of the environment and in the way it is dealing with the very sensitive areas of waste management and resource recovery but in the very proud way that it researches and promotes the exciting heritage and culture which lies behind the building of what I believe to be one of the nation's most interesting cities," Mr. Muir said.

BLUFF BEACH the cleanest

A STONE'S throw from the centre of the city, Bluff Beach offers everything a family would want at any time of the year. There is a serenity combined with a truly beautiful setting that any community would be delighted to call its own.

A walk to the lighthouse, a visit to a unique aboriginal centre, a picnic on the adjacent lawns with many facilities to keep children very safely occupied, a very active surf life-saving club to oversee activities together with all the necessary amenities (including plenty of parking!).

Very few beaches are able to offer so much to so many in such a relatively small area ... and so close to home!

"The Bluff Beach is the place to visit and enjoy no matter what the season, no matter what the weather," aid Innkeepers judge Barrie Muir.

"Having had former National judging panel experience I am confident Bluff Beach will do us proud in the Nationals," he added.

OATLANDS a bypass success

WITH the Midlands Highway bypassing Oatlands, there was a slowing down of all aspects of the life of the town. The drought in recent years did little to improve the situation. As the recent "Spring Festival" has shown in a most marked way, Oatlands has "picked itself up, dusted itself off" and is enjoying a most welcome renaissance. Community spirit has always been strong and there is an excellent relationship between the local council and the many groups of volunteers who are so keen to make the township a great and most welcoming place in which to live.

"Not only does Oatlands have the largest collection of Georgian sandstone buildings in Australia, but such an obvious pride which their residents have in them is very evident", said Innkeepers judge, Barrie Muir. "And this pride is equally evident in the way the town is researching and presenting its rich heritage and culture", he added. The Heritage Highway project is flourishing and the restoration of the 171 year old Callington flour mill is an exciting development which will attract visitors from all around the nation and beyond.

It is a very long time since Lake Dulverton has enjoyed the water it needs to restore it to its former glory. The Wild Life Sanctuary and Conservation Area is a credit to those who are doing all possible to protect the flora and fauna of the region.

Do the Right Thing IN TASMANIA

The Packaging Stewardship Forum (PSF) was established in May 2006 as a forum of the Australian Food and Grocery Council.

The forum aims to significantly increase government, industry and community understanding of recycling and litter management through the delivery of projects throughout Australia, either directly or indirectly in partnership with others. The Forum's focus is on providing cost-effective recycling and litter reduction solutions that deliver real and measurable outcomes.

The PSF is joint principal sponsor of the Tasmanian Tidy Towns Awards.

What we do

The Do the Right Thing brand is the core of our programs. Do the Right Thing is one of the most successful behaviour change programs in Australian history, responsible for a 70 per cent reduction in litter during the 1980's and 1990's. Today, the Do the Right Thing message is being used by 246 townships and organisations across Australia to educate communities to reduce litter and recycle.

The PSF supported the installation of new recycling and waste bin stations and signage Launceston's Aurora Stadium and Hobart's Bellerive Oval. The initiative enabled the two major sporting venues to recycle for the first time and do their bit for the environment by reducing litter and increasing recycling.

The Minister for the Environment, Parks, Heritage and the Arts, Michelle O'Byrne and Chairman of the York Park and Inveresk Precinct Authority, Robin McKendrick (pictured) launched the initiative at Aurora Stadium in August this year.

An anti-litter campaign partnership between the PSF, Southern Waste Strategy Authority, Hydro Tasmania, the Anglers Alliance, Inland Fisheries and the Central Highlands Council is under way in Tasmania's Central Highlands area. The campaign is spearheaded by the PSF's anti-litter brand Do the Right Thing and targets the amount of litter found in the popular fishing spots used by tens of thousands of fisherman each year.

The campaign involves the installation of new recycling and waste bin stations, Do the Right Thing in the Central Highlands roadside signage, disposal information for licensed fisherman as well as the distribution of hundreds of posters and stickers throughout local townships.

The communities and local fishing clubs in the area strongly support the project to keep their lakes beautiful and clean.

Public Place Recycling – Royal Tasmanian Botanical Gardens

The PSF kicked off its partnership with the Royal Tasmanian Botanical Gardens in June this year at the inaugural Environment Festival 'Treadlightly'.

Recycling and waste bins along with Do the Right Thing signage were provided and were also accompanied with compost bins which helped the festival and its patrons consciously do their bit for the environment. Crowds made a conscious effort to use the bins properly with no recyclables being put in the rubbish bins.

The festival was officially opened by the Parliamentary Secretary to the Premier Lisa Singh who described it as the vanguard for recycling at public events in Tasmania.
